Standardized Reference Notation for A Course In Miracles Original Edition

The Community Miracles Center decided on September 29, 2011 that this is how CMC will reference the ACIM Original Edition. This notation evolved after an open discussion by ACIM Students/Teachers held on the CMC's ACIM On-Line Discussion Group. This notation may evolve more over time. The guiding idea was to create a notation that was intuitively easy to understand and not arcane. The notation does not use the fewest characters possible, but uses two and four letter combinations that are easy to understand and will draw readers and students naturally into the material. Periods separate natural material divisions. Prior to setting this standard, writings from the CMC contained various derivations on these general notations.

Basic Notation: (covers ~95% of the material):

OrEd.Tx.6.24 – Original Edition, Text, Chapter 6, paragraph 24

---- "You cannot love what you do not appreciate ..."
